Spirulina

By Marc de Muijnck

⇒ 28/03/2013 : Marc introduce our spirulina's farms in Sóc Trăng to M. Jean-Bernard Simian, a famous spirulina's farmer in the South of France (Spiruline de Provence) who has been genuinely and positively impressed by the quality of our sites and its production. Following its findings, he gave us very good advise to improve some technical points. He has been guided during the journey by Mai Thi, young student from Cần Thơ who is always volunteer to be available to support us, and we take this opportunity to thank her for that! On Sunday, Jean-Bernard went together with Marc in orphanage "Truyền Tin", then "Minh Tâm" where his family decided to sponsor a 2 year girl.

⇒ 08/05/2012 : We welcome Yannick, a trainer for Spirulina culture for 1 month. He will be joined from 18/05 by Julien. Those trainers are just finishing their education in CFPPA in Hyères and come for 2 months internship to be graduated. We will also welcome 2 others trainers from this center mid june.

This was a good opportunity for all volunteers to gather and welcome Yannick, during a casual dinner. The day after, Marc together with Ms Liên and Virginie joined him on the way to the 2 spirulina farms. He brought with him some sain stems of "Toliara" (spiral shape from Madagascar) and 'Paracas' (from Peru). We know those types well but the ones we are currently using start to be a bit used too much, goes time for a renewal.

Morning programm starts with an official ceremony together with local partners and official representative. This ceremony takes place to thank our NGO for having succesfully implemented its targets within the 3 year plan, because the realizations went even further the initial targets.

20th house! In this village, Bà Chi, the grandmother is really happy to know that her grand daughter is having a real house (picture below). This 14 year old child (we told her story in a previous post), gave birth last month. She seem relieved but really different than beofre not a child any more. When Marc asked her how she felt, we could feel real worries, fear. Her baby eventually got adopted by a vietnamese family in the North, in exchange of 10 million VND (500 usd) to cover for hospital fees.

Projects in Cần Giuộc

Par Marc de Muynck

15/05/2013 : Comissioning of constructions projects in Cần Giuộc, Long An province where we officially handed-over 3 houses to very disabled families. Attending the ceremony: Bà (Ms.) Nguyễn Hồng Mai, deputy of the village (phó chủ tịch UBND huyện Cần Giuộc), 2 representative of Friendship Union of Long An province Organizations (Liên hiệp các tổ chức hữu nghị), Preseident of the local Red Cross (Hội chữ thập đỏ) and his deputies, President of Women Union(Hội phụ nữ), Président of Elderly Club (hội Người cao tuổi) and miscellaneous representitve of local communitities of concerned villages. These organizations have given useful gifts to each family recipient of "heart house" (Nha Thuong TÌNH).

This "tour" kept all of us quite busy, since most of the places to visit were on remote area. It sometime required good skilled in motorbike to drive of very narrow dams, but with breath taking rice field landscapes.

We all had a short break for lunch, and went to visit families to whom we provided rain water tanks. This region is already suffering from rise of the sea level due to global warming, therefore salty water comes into fresh water and underground storage. Rain water collection allow families to keep fresh water to be used for dry season.
